Adaptation exercises

Choose a subject and make a storyboard draft out of it:

Remember:

Select your storyboard template with care. If working on an A4 structure, a storyboard should have at least 2 panels horizontally, and ideally 3 vertically. More could create a too dense and too crowded image for students who need clarity. If you are using a program, the software will usually propose a 3x2 format.

Practical questions:

How would you adapt this storyboard to other contexts?

How would you give instructions for analyzing this storyboard?
